TAYLOR MYSTERY NEAR SOLUTION?

LOS ANGELES POLICE MAKE ARRESTS THAT MAY BRING IT ABOUT

Alleged Story Told to Police by Mrs. John Rupp Revives Theory of Drug Ring Murder—Six Drug Peddlers Being Held Incommunicado—May Visit Normand Again

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 28.—"The mystery of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director, is solved, if the story told by Mrs. John Rupp in connection with the arrest here today of six drug peddlers is correct," tonight declared Detective Sergeant Herman Cline, one of the police squad assigned to the case.

When William Cline, head of the police homicidal squad, made that statement, Mrs. Rupp, who told the police she had "kept house" for the men, had been subjected to a rigid questioning by two detectives of the district attorney's office. Her statements were taken down in short hand in the presence of officers who said they would check up every detail.

Another witness, new in the case, and whose exact connection with it and whose name was not made public officially was taken before Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, to whom he was said to have told a "very important story."

REPUBLICANS TRY TO ADJUST DIFFERENCES

Make Little Headway And Adjourn Until Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The House ways and means committee Republicans spent three hours today trying to reconcile their differences over the soldier bonus but without success and adjourned until tomorrow.

Chairman Fordney announced that the committee had arrived at no conclusion. It was understood there was a general discussion of the whole question of finances, acrimonious at times and that at the finish the situation was not where it was before the special sub-committee tentatively agreed upon a special tax program which subsequently was disapproved by President Harding.

Some committee members hoped for some kind of a conclusion tomorrow. It was said that the possibilities included postponing the whole question for a month in the belief that the delay would clear the atmosphere, but several members were understood to disfavor such a program.

The discussion today was reported to have revolved largely around the proposition to write into the bill some kind of a financing provision that would meet the president's views at least half way. The sales tax suggested by the president and rejected by the special sub-committee last week by an overwhelming vote was not pressed particularly it was said and the impression went out that some members had in mind a special tax program.

Sales tax proponents were understood to hope this program would be worked around the sales tax but leaders of the agricultural bloc will oppose that believing that the bonus can be financed out of proceeds from the refunded British debt.

Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion and John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of the legion's executive committee today discussed the bonus situation with President Harding. They said afterward that they were "perfectly satisfied with the results of the conference and expressed confidence that there would be no delay in the enactment of the adjusted compensation legislation. They added that the President was heart and soul with the Legion."

At the white house it was said that President Harding in his talk with the legion officials had simply referred to his recent letter to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee outlining his position on the bonus as favoring a sales tax to raise the funds with which to finance it or else postponement of such legislation.

TRADITIONAL SPLENDOR AT CEREMONIES

Scenes of Regal Pomp Mark Wedding of Princess

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Feb. 28.—King George today gave his only daughter, Princess Mary in marriage to Viscount Lascelles. A bridal march within the walls of Westminster Abbey, rich in royal associations and a ritual witnessed by a grand assemblage and attended by the traditional splendors that mark state occasions were the more superficial of the day's proceedings. That which captivated an empire's imagination was the realization of a dream older than empires—the marriage of a beautiful girl of exalted rank to a man of mere humble station but of proven gallantry.

In the joyous faces of those crowding either side of the gay route from the palace to the sanctuary and in the tumultuous and prolonged outbursts of cheering and applause the good will and approval of a patient-loving people, anxious to share in the happiness of this notable day were vividly displayed. Another source of the nation's felicitations was reflected in the daily press, which exulted that "this wedding does not link us with a foreign alliance that might prove in future years unpopular."

Among the richly garbed wedding guests in the abbey were half a dozen representatives of organized labor and their wives, bidden at the instance of the king. The scenes of regal pomp which gave the ceremony its theatrical excellence were the most magnificent London has seen since the war.

People Are Happy. The happiness everywhere evident among the steel throngs was quite as apparent in the abbey. The guests, however, were obliged to confine their approbation to welcoming smiles as the bride, in silver with long flowing veil, and train held by two of her attendants passed gracefully down the scarlet-carpeted aisle on the arm of the king. Waiting them inside the railing of the sacralium were Dowager Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary, the bride's brothers, the Duke of York, Prince Henry and Prince George and other members of the royal family. The king wore his resplendent scarlet and gold uniform of the grenadier guards, in compliment to the war time unit of Lascelles. This uniform was also worn by the slender bridegroom. The contrasting colorings of Prince George's naval uniform and the royal air force regalia of Prince Henry and the richly embroidered red cloak of the clergy far outshone in brilliant colors and gold brocade the Queen Mary's gown and the more subdued shades of Alexandra's dress. Both queens were aglitter with diamonds.

Bride Seems Nervous. The bride swayed precariously and seemed quite nervous as the ceremony which scarcely exceeded ten minutes began. Her face was pale as Dean Ryle moved forward to the entrance of the sacralium and began the marriage service, Viscount Lascelles having taken his place on the bride's right.

The opening admonitions to the assemblage finished, the dean gave place to the Archbishop of Canterbury who charged the bride and bridegroom with the responsibilities of the married state and took their vows. The bridegroom answered "I will," audibly at some distance. The bride's rejoinder was evidenced by a slight inclination of her head—her words were not heard.

The bride and groom then moved back to the lord's table, while the others remained at the altar steps. The sixty seventh psalm was chanted and the Archbishop of York completed the solemnization of the marriage with a few words.

ARMED BANDITS ROB BANK AND ESCAPE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 28.—Five armed bandits today held up and robbed a branch of the Fletcher Savings & Trust company and escaped with $30,000 in cash. Three of the men entered the bank and struck R. A. Vechold, the assistant manager, over the head as he was closing the door to a vault.

After slugging a customer over the head and locking all other persons in the foyer into a rear room the bandits escaped in an automobile. No one entered the bank during the robbery and it was several minutes before those imprisoned in the rear room ventured forth after the robbers had left. After getting the money the robbers broke open a safe deposit vault near the main safe and removed some papers.

Hughes and Hoover On Debt Commission

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The nominations of Secretaries Hughes of the state department and Hoover, of the department of commerce, to the allied debt funding commission, were confirmed by the senate late today. Previously the senate had adopted a resolution extending ten days the time in which the judiciary committee can report as to the constitutionality of the nominations of Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, and Representative Burton, Republican, Ohio, to the commission. The question of their eligibility has been raised under the section of the constitution referring to the appointment of members of congress to federal offices.

Secretary Mellon as head of the treasury department, under the allied debt act is ex-officio chairman of the commission and therefore requires no confirmation. Altho the commission now has a working majority, opinion was not clear tonight whether the commission could function without awaiting a decision on the nominations of Senator Smoot and Representative Burton. It was indicated that President Harding might find it necessary to request a formal opinion from Attorney General Daugherty.

At the same time it was felt that this step would not be taken inasmuch as but a few days delay most probably would be entailed. Secretary Hughes is expected back from Bermuda soon and Secretary Mellon has not indicated that he was in great haste to call the commission together altho he is understood intending to take up the funding work as soon as possible.

BID FOR CEMENT IS HELD UP BY STATE TO AWAIT CONFERENCE

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 28.—Altho the Marquette Portland Cement company met Governor Small's demand for a price of $1.30 per barrel on cement for new roads in 1922 when bids were received by highway officials today, C. R. Miller, director of public works announced tonight that the bid which covers 600,000 barrels of cement, will not be accepted until after a conference of highway officials of seven other states. These states are Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Missouri and South Dakota.

"These states agreed some time ago not to purchase any cement until a fair price basis had been established," Director Miller said. "It was the general understanding at that time that a price of $1.30 would be considered a fair price. A conference will probably be held in the next few days. Altho the Marquette company 600 barrels, highway officials asked for bids on 4,000,000 barrels, offered the price on only 600. Bids by other cement companies averaged $1.40 per barrel. "Should the price of $1.30 offered by the Marquette company, which is a drop of 25 cents per barrel, be met by the other companies, and the state should be able to purchase four million barrels at that figure, the governor's fight for fairer prices would save one million dollars on this year's supply of cement alone," Director Miller said.

JUDGE CHRISTOPHER MAKES STATEMENT CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Judge Henry R. Christopher of the superior court of Okmulgee county, Oklahoma, tonight stated to The Associated Press from a sick bed that he expected to return to Okmulgee, probably next week and resume the bench.

Judge Christopher in what he termed the "final statement" in connection with his discharge of the Okmulgee county grand jury while it was investigating the affairs of the Bank of Commerce, consulting the attorney general asserted that he acted only after and satisfying himself that the jury was illegally constituted.

SNOW STORM WILL BENEFIT WHEAT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 28.—The snow storm that is sweeping Oklahoma today will result in almost untold benefit to wheat and produce "a most hopeful outlook" in the state according to John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. Not only will the snow protect the wheat from low temperatures and supply needed moisture when it melts but it will do a great deal to deter the activities of greenbacks, which have been reported in many wheat growing counties, Mr. Whitehurst said.

AMERICAN CARDINALS WILL BE PRESENT—POPE PIUS ROME, Feb. 28.—"All the American cardinals will be present at the next conclave," said Pope Pius during an audience of Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, this morning. "There will be no more racing five thousand miles in a vain endeavor to reach Rome in time for a conclave," the pope added. "The United States is too important to be ignored as she has been. I shall see to it that what happened at the last conclave shall not occur again."

HARDING SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN IS PRESENTED

Maximum Cost For Year is Estimated at $30,000,000

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—President Harding, through a message which he read in person to congress in joint session presented today the administration program for development thru direct and indirect subsidies of the American merchant marine and immediate steps were taken to translate his recommendations into legislation.

Bills embodying the administration policy were introduced simultaneously before the President had left the capitol and arrangements made for early committee consideration. Joint hearings by the senate commerce and the house merchant marine committees to which the bills were referred, were proposed by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, chairman of the former. The former bill will be taken up next Thursday by the senate committee and soon also by the house committee.

The President declared that the policy of government operation of its merchant ships had demonstrated to be "fundamentally wrong and practically impossible." He proposed the sale even at an admitted sacrifice of the government fleet built during the war and the granting of the direct and indirect subsidies, together with other aid to ship operators.

The President also reiterated his approval of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project. The audience today was considered the smallest either Mr. Harding or former President Wilson had addressed on similar occasions. Delay in distributing tickets of admission was reported as one cause for this.

The cost of his program next year was estimated by the President at $15,000,000 with about $30,000,000 as the ultimate maximum. The plan, the President said, would "ultimately take the government out of a business, which has been excessively costly and wasteful and involving a loss in excess of the highest subsidy proposed."

Establish Merchant Marine. America had the aspiration, the President declared, to establish a merchant marine commensurate with our commercial importance, he said.

The president said that every member of the shipping board endorsed the administration program. Republican leaders in both branches of congress, said also that it had the general endorsement of the dominant party membership. Members of the senate and house committees which will deal with the bill, participated in drafting the administration program.

Democratic opposition to the subsidy proposal developed, however, immediately. "There is no need for subsidies in my opinion," said Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida. Other democratic senators also declared their opposition to a subsidy. Some Republicans also expressed themselves inclined to oppose a subsidy. These included members of the agriculture bloc. Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the agriculture committee, said that in preference to a subsidy he would turn over the government's ships to the Panama Railroad company, a government merchant.

Consideration by the house merchant marine committee of the legislation will not begin for a week or ten days said Chairman Greene of Massachusetts.

PATHOS MARKS JUDGE LANDIS' LAST DAY IN THE FEDERAL COURT

Tear in His Eye But Step Unflinching as He Walks From the Federal Building as a Private Citizen—Testimonial of the Federal Building Reporters Touches Him Deeply

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—With a tear in his eye, but an unflinching step, Kenesaw Mountain Landis today walked out of the federal building a private citizen after seventeen years as United States judge for the northern district of Illinois.

Starting tomorrow, the famous jurist who recently resigned, will devote his time to the position of baseball commissioner.

Judge Landis swung thru the first part of his final day on the bench in characteristic fashion, disposing of nearly a dozen cases in the typically Landis manner which once caused a convicted bootlegger to refer to him as "that white haired hell cat in federal court," and a pardoned youth to term him the "whitest guy that ever talked to a fellow."

He fined one man one cent for tax dodging because, he said, "you've tried to be square," and slapped a $5,000 fine on the man's partner because he "hadn't played fair."

In the afternoon the judge sat in his chambers, watching his personal effects being carted away during the informal reception of hundreds of visitors. Persons from all stages of life came to clasp his hand. Bank presidents and society leaders mingled with day laborers.

The judge showed the greatest emotion when the federal building newspaper reporters presented him with a signed testimonial wishing him luck, saying that he was "taking the life of the joint away," and that they would always remember him as an "honest to God man and a judge with the right kind of backbone."

After reading it the judge swung his big chair around so the reporters could not see him and when he turned back his cheeks and eyes glistened with tears.

"Oh, hell," he said, "I can't thank you fellows. We've been too good pals and I just can't seem to talk. But I hope that each one of you knows down in your heart how much I hate to leave this building and you—but, no, I'm not leaving you fellows. We'll have our reunions and grow old together telling each other how we used to sit on the federal bench."

The last person to bid farewell to Judge Landis was Joe Buckner, bailiff in the judge's first court. Buckner left his bed, where he was confined with pneumonia, to journey thru a snowstorm for his farewell. Judge Landis will leave in about ten days for a tour of the southern major league training camps, he said. His itinerary has not been completed but it is understood it will include all of the camps.

LABOR LEADER IS HELD FOR SHOOTING

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Michael (Mick) Norris, a labor leader, was arrested today following the shooting of three men at a party given at the home of a labor leader, according to the police, of a union labor feud.

Michael Wincle, a teamster, was shot thru one lung, and John Reddington thru the neck, while they were together in a saloon in which Reddington is bartender. A short time later Joseph Doyle, a union official, was shot thru the body while standing on a West Side street.

Wincle told the police that Norris shot at him without warning, one of the bullets accidentally striking Reddington. A list containing nineteen names was found on Norris, who also carried a pistol containing three discharged cartridges, according to the police. Doyle told the police that Norris had claimed that "he was out to get fourteen men."

RED CROSS CAR CATCHES AFIRE

STATEMENT IS ISSUED TUESDAY BY ADMIRAL SIMS

Relates to Propaganda for His Promotion to Admiral

(By The Associated Press)

NEWPORT R. I., Feb. 28.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims issued a statement to the press regarding alleged propaganda for his promotion to the grade of admiral. He said that he had decided upon his return from Europe not to submit an official report on the inefficiency of the navy department, "there would probably be no necessity for discussing the question of my promotion at the present time."

The statement, Admiral Sims asserted concerned letters written by or to John L. Leighton recently published in the "Hearst newspapers," and characterized by those papers as propaganda for the promotion. "I have been specifically asked," he said, "whether I was informed of the activities of some of my friends, including Mr. Leighton. I was informed by the latter that they proposed to ascertain the attitude of the people toward the treatment accorded the navy since the war."

"In 1919 the last administration recommended to the congress that I be promoted to the rank of admiral. This was approved almost unanimously by the house of representatives but was hung up in the senate. This approval by the house apparently created the impression that I had been promoted to admiral as recommended."

"Upon my return from Europe I was confronted with the necessity of making a decision as to whether I should submit an official report of the inefficiency of the navy department that caused such serious losses in men and shipping, with a view of bringing about the recognition of the department or whether I should remain silent and leave the American people under the very dangerous impression conveyed by the department's official reports that the navy and the department were efficient and prepared 'from stem to stern.'"

"Considering the information I had to allow our people to remain so dangerously misinformed as to our first line of national defense would manifestly have been rank cowardice. I therefore submitted an official report and the result was a senate investigation which had been the truth of my statements."

"Surely the navy deserves recognition as well as the army," Admiral Sims concluded. "For the success with which it carried out its mission and it appears to me that anything that can properly be done even now to bring this to the attention of the public is to be commended as a public service."

J. Ogden Armour is optimistic about business conditions both in this country and in Europe, according to a recent brief interview. Mr. Armour tells the farmers that 11 cent hogs means $1 a bushel in corn value to the farmers—and Mr. Armour knows.
A number of people have been interviewed as to what constitutes beauty when the word is applied to women. All are agreed that it is the character and spirit alone that count. Nevertheless the consumption of talcum, rouge and lip sticks will not show any material decrease.
Four more failures of stock and bond houses in New York have been recorded, bringing the total list for the past few months up to quite a large figure. It is a remarkable testimonial to the financial system of the country that these failures have caused no serious business flurries.
The evidence seems to show quite conclusively that the former president of the Chicago building trades council extorted at least $16,500 from persons who were erecting buildings. Case after case has been proven to show the iniquity of building conditions in Chicago. Certainly the present campaign that stable citizens of Chicago are so steadily supporting will eventually result in decent conditions.
The convention of superintendents of schools now in session in Chicago is one of the most important ever held there. This is not due to the fact that it is the fifty-second convention, or merely because superintendents are in session, but from the fact of the importance of education. With passing time there comes a more thorough understanding of what the educational system means to the government and to society today.
William Mather Lewis must have been thinking along this line when in a public address the other day he said:
"The question of education is of national importance, which, up to this time we have failed to recognize. The training of our youth will never keep pace with the economic and social needs of America until teachers and business men alike realize that education and business are inseparably connected."
"Business men are thinking more seriously about education than ever before. We must provide our boys and girls with sound economic knowledge and teach them the principles of our government and love for its institutions."
The report made by the water extension committee which appears elsewhere in this issue, is interesting reading matter. The committee recognizes the need of water

The Hi-Y club met for its regular weekly meeting at Grace M. E. church last evening. Supper was served the boys at 5:45 so that much of the business part of the session could be passed before many of the boys went to the basketball practice. The supper was greatly enjoyed by members of the club and was served under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Reid. After the supper and business session the session was turned over to J. S. Findley, who took up the matter of the coming basketball tournament. Mr. Findley told the boys every member of the Hi Y would be with them during the coming games and admonished the members to give discouragement everywhere to gambling of the players. Mr. Findley said, "While his remarks did not apply to any member of the Hi Y he was sure the club members could give effective discouragement to those who might be inclined that way. OLD JACKSONVILLE SPEAKING OF THE WEATHER

(BY ENSLEY MOORE)
Member Illinois State Historical Society

This has been a mild winter, which, March can hardly modify, as a whole. The writer has more or less recollection of the weather, since 1853 and 1854. In before-the-war-times there was much heavier snows than of late years; more frequent and lying longer on the ground.

It is to be remembered that, one hundred years ago there were four places of size in Illinois. St. Louis was at that time the largest and most settled town in this region while south of Jacksonville it still was nearest to a point to be referred to as to weather of any hereabouts. Of course it is known that Morgan county did not come into being until 1823, and Jacksonville in 1825. Paste those dates in your hat.

Dr. John M. Peck, in his invaluable "Gazetteer of Illinois," printed here in 1834, by R. Goudy Robert, Sr., says, under the heading "Climate And Health.

The State of Illinois, extending as it does, through five and a half degrees of latitude, must possess some varieties in its climate. Its extensive prairies, and its level surface, give greater scope to the winds, especially in winter. Snow frequently falls, but seldom lies long, during the winter months, in the southern part of the state. In the northern portion, the winters are nearly as severe as in the same parallel of latitude in the Atlantic states. The Mississippi at St. Louis is frequently frozen over and is passed on the ice, and occasionally for several weeks. The hot season is longer, tho not more intense, than occasionally for a day or two in New England." Dr. Peck was a Vermont, and wrote this after our great "Deep Snow" in 1830-31.
Peck says further: "During the years 1817-18-19, the Rev. Mr. Giddings (Solomon) at St. Louis made a series of observations upon Fahrenheit's thermometer. Mean temperature for 1817, 55 degrees. Same from the beginning of May, 1818 to the end of April, 1819, 58 degrees. Mean temperatures for 1820 56 degrees.

Peck gives (probably from Giddings) "The greatest extremes of heat and cold during my residence in the county of seventeen years, in the vicinity of St. Louis, is as follows: Greatest heat in July, 1820 and July, 1833, 100 degrees. Greatest cold Jan. 3, 1834, 34 degrees.
The foregoing facts will doubtless apply to about one half of Illinois. This climate also is subject to sudden changes from heat to cold; from wet to dry, especially from November to May. The heat of summer below the 40th, degrees of latitude is more enervating and the system becomes more easily debilitated than in the bracing atmosphere of a more northerly region." The O. J. man—then of course a boy, saw about two weeks of weather in August, 1858, in St. Louis, when the mercury stood at 100 degrees or two or three more, in day time. He also was there in 1867, in February, when, on Wednesday one could sit by the open window in his shirt sleeves, on Thursday it was a little cooler, on Friday evening a deep snow fell, and the mercury marked 15 degrees below zero on Saturday morning.

Health.
Peck said, as to health: Families are seldom sick who live in comfortable houses, with tight floor and well ventilated rooms and who, upon a change of weather, and especially in a time of rain, make a little fire in the chimney, tho it may be in summer." This was to guard against malaria, in the "agur" days. Note that Dr. Peck speaks of the chimney; stoves were not plenty in those days.
Peck finished as to health in this state, in these words: Finally, I am prepared to speak decidedly in favor of the general health of Illinois." But the following forty years saw plenty of fever, and ague in this state. The miserable effects of malaria wrote its evidence clearly in the faces and eyes of the so-called "natives" most of whom, however were only immigrants in those days.
In the fall of 1858 Joshua Moore had an ague chill, as did his mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Mackin, and his ward, Frank Ballard, a boy of fourteen years of age. They were all in the house numbered 856 West State street.
Altho a native of Illinois, the O. J. man never had an ague chill. But he did have a spell of fever after that fortnight in St. Louis, in 1858.

D. W. GARD SPEAKS TO JUNIOR HIGH STUDENTS

Visitor in City Tells Student of His Work as Engineer for American Bridge Co.
Students at the Junior High school heard a very interesting address Tuesday morning by D. W. Gard, who is a guest at the home of his brother, G. W. Gard, on South East street. The visitor is an engineer for the American Bridge Co. and has but recently returned from Peru, where the company has completed the erection of a large smelting plant. This plant is one of the largest of its kind in the world and its erection was a tremendous task.
Mr. Gard's work at the Peru plant was that of raising the four great smoke stacks. These stacks were three hundred feet high and a diameter of from fifteen to thirty feet. The plant is designed to care for all the copper, gold and silver ore mined in the adjacent territory, which includes the banks of the Oroya river, a tributary of the Amazon.
Among the places which Mr. Gard has visited in the last few years are, Alaska, Porto Rico, South America, China, India, the Philippines and practically every state in the union. He also had part in the building of the large, that erected at Croix d'Indes, France, during the world war. There are eight towers to this station, all of them extending to a height of 800 feet, and messages can be sent from it to any part of the world in a few seconds' time.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOHN BARBER
A shadow fell upon our lives
When death, the reaper, came
And took our father dear away
From earthly care and pain.
But some time, some day our eyes shall see
The face we love so well,
Some time our hands shall press
In his
And never say farewell.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled
God in His goodness has recalled
The boon His love had given,
And the body slumbers now
The soul is safe in heaven.
The evening shades had vanished
The night was calm and still,
God sent His blessed angels
To do His holy will.
Where the sunbeams love to linger,
And the rain drops gently fall,
He's sleeping there so peacefully
Waiting for us all.

TWO VISITORS FROM CANADA AT ELI PLANT
C. Vanderlip of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, and E. A. Cotton of London, Ontario, came to Jacksonville yesterday on business with the Eli Bridge Co. Mr. Cotton remained for a day or two, as he is having a big Eli built for April delivery.
These two customers of the local firm came from different parts of Canada on the same date by chance. It could be listed as an unusual circumstance for two persons from such distant but somewhat contiguous points to reach the factory on the same date. However, it can be remembered that the visitors to the Eli factory come from all parts of the world.

Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets Often Produce Most Surprising Results. Get a FREE $1.00 Package Today as Explained Below—Try Them for Ten Days and Watch the Results. Science has at last shown how we sometimes grow weak, thin, and emaciated on an abundance of food (lacking in vitamins) while with a much smaller amount of food, rich in vitamins, we quickly take on good firm flesh, increase in weight, and make a remarkable gain in strength, energy and endurance, provided your blood contains sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable your body to assimilate your food properly. Without organic iron both food and vitamins are absolutely useless as your body cannot change lifeless inert food

SOME MEMOIRS OF THE REV. J. P. HILLERBY.

As I look back over the week preceding father's death I am impelled to write the following: On the Friday just one week before his funeral, he said in his diary, "Life is real, Life is earnest and the grave is not the goal. We live a moment at a time. We have a remarkable proof of the fact—two of active men, one a fine lawyer in his prime, another a merchant 'top of activity, and who next? Each man in health may inquire, will it be me? Yes it may, scores of men in action in this city are just as eligible as those just passed away. Will the next be me? Oh to be ready."

On Saturday, I find the following: "What next? Is a question, which no one can answer with reference to our own history we are making out. The Saviour's caution is, 'watch and pray'; we are exhorted to be on the look for God only knows what shall happen. Within the past week two men in the prime of life were called to the surprise of their friends, so that every hour something happens we did not expect—death usually comes as a surprise; so we are called to be on the watch for suddenly death comes, if we are ready the change is a pleasant one—only passing from the kitchen to the parlor, so 'Be ye also ready in the waiting.'"

In the last letter he wrote to my sister in Kansas he said: "My health is about as usual. I enjoy my sleep and my food have no pains but just staying here waiting the will of my Saviour, until He says 'Come!' I hope however, I may see you again before my departure for the better land."

On Tuesday he wrote in his diary in the morning, and according to the date written by the father of Romans he read that chapter the day before he died and wrote two letters and took a walk of several blocks. This was the last written page in his diary. "Our system is like the weather subject to changes and they are effected often. Faith is the mainspring of experience, no one is received into God's family unless by faith he takes the blessed hope through Christ, formalism cannot save a soul, it never has for it deals in the outward and religion is an internal experience."

In the afternoon of this same last day in talking to his grand son he said: "Charles, I wish I could take you to heaven with me." He was talking as naturally as if he was planning to take the trip, just as he did.

These things will be pleasant for me to remember and for that reason I wish to share with his other relatives and friends.

Of the last two letters that my father wrote, one was written to his old friend, Mr. John Spencer, who, with his daughter, had moved to Carrollton within the last few months. I wrote to Miss Spencer and asked if she would send me my father's last letter written on Feb. 21st. And this she so kindly did and this Tuesday morning I received it and the following is a copy and in a separate note to Miss Spencer he states that he is writing without glasses.

"Dear Bro. Spencer:—Yesterday, I heard through your daughter here, that you were almost helpless; this may be expected, you have used your body in much action up and down this country, and have made a success in gathering many acres of its richest soil and now you are resting and have much pleasure in your lands. There is a land that is fairer than day that is just a head for you and me. I mark the figure of my 89th year and you a little less. We may soon reach the land that is fairer than day. We may soon get there its riches to share. Jesus invites, let us get ready for the haven of rest, where Jesus will greet us, where no farewells are sounded—Don't you hear them singing? Don't you hear them say, come. Yes let earth that has been the scene of your struggle, as you have traveled the pathway of life—let it go! There is a great welcome for the weary traveler—meet me there—You will! Yes—Your friend and fellow traveler."

LOOK FOR RULING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(By the A. P.)—Vermilion county officials are looking to the state supreme court this month for a ruling on the validity of their 21 cent special hard road tax, which the Toledo St. Louis & Western railroad declared illegal.

In rebelling against the tax the railroad claimed that Robert H. Mater, treasurer of Vermilion county, had no authority to collect the special 21 cent tax in addition to the 50 cent general county tax levy.

Vermilion county issued $1,500,000 in bonds, relying upon the 21 cent tax to pay the matured bonds and interest.

Local Lads Take Visitors Measure in Fast Game 21-17 — Play Springfield Saturday Night.

Last night in their third game of the season, played at the gym of the school for the blind, the school for the deaf tossers walked over the Murrayville High Five in a 21 to 17 victory.

A good sized crowd witnessed the game and much excitement was displayed throughout the game especially in the final periods. The first part of the game was slow, but towards the close it was speedy.

Excellent passing by both teams was the main feature of the game. For the locals, Massinkoff and Mannen starred. The former played excellent at guard, frequently spoiling some sure shots by the Murrayville forwards. The latter displayed a good floor game caging five baskets.

For the visitors, Capt. Riggs at guard and Carlson at center were the shining ones. An excellent defensive game was played by the former.

The Olympic Americans from Springfield will play the local tossers Saturday night. Last Saturday night before Coach Mitchell's squad fell before the Springfield High, the Olympic Americans defeated the I. S. D. by 14 to 6. Revenge is sweet and the I. S. D. are hoping to win the coming game.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENTS

District Tourneys Will be Played in Twenty Nine Cities—Lists Show 465 Schools Are Entered—Sectional Tourneys March 13—Finals for State Title March 17 and 18

MOHARDT CALLED IDEAL ATHLETE

Star in Football, Baseball and Track — Will Enter Medical School Next Fall.

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—(By the A. P.)—When Johnny Mohardt leaves Notre Dame university late in February to go south with the Detroit American League baseball, organized baseball will have captured a man who closely approaches the ideal college product. Mohardt has reached the pinnacle in college baseball and football and is a monogram man in track. He has completed one of the most difficult courses a university has to offer with a general average of over 90 per cent for his four year's work and is regarded as one of the most brilliant students who has ever left Notre Dame.

Mohardt came into national prominence late in the football season of 1920 when he rivalled George Gipp's performance in the football game at West Point which made Gipp an all-American. Sport critics recognized the same Mohardt as the captain of the Notre Dame baseball nine of 1921 but the first major league offers that came his way were referred to Coach Rockne. Mohardt retained his amateur standing, returned for the last year on the gridiron which stamped him as one of the passing marvels of the game and one of the greatest backfield men of the year.

Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit and the national league clubs from Chicago and St. Louis sent representatives with flattering offers to Mohardt and several medical schools offered him places on their coaching staffs after he had announced his intention to continue his study of medicine. He finally cast his lot with Ty Cobb and President Navin of Detroit upon receipt of their promise that he would be allowed to leave major league ball in time to enter school in the fall where he will pursue his ambition to become a surgeon.

Mohardt has every natural qualification of the baseball player. He has an exceptionally strong arm, is a speedy base runner, as a monogram in the 40 yard dash will testify is a finished fielder and has batted near .330 during the three years competition at Notre Dame. He played center field and has done an occasional turn in the pitching box. He has a powerful physique, although weighing but 160 pounds, and except for a broken nose received in one of the last games of the last year, has never been seriously injured in his three years of football.

WORKMEN DIG UP TREASURE

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 28. — Workmen excavating just across Tremont street from the old Granary burying ground, where repose the bones of Paul Revere and other New England forefathers, set up a cry of buried treasure.

They had turned up a 50-year old cache of liquor, said to have been stowed away at the time of the great Boston fire in 1872.

It consisted of two hogsheds of old New England rum and a quantity of Madeira wine, Thorndyke rye, champagne, gin and other rare liquors.

In the confusion that followed, the liquor disappeared mysteriously. The diggers said pedestrians got most of it, although a spirit of gaiety and good cheer was said to have prevailed on the workings the rest of the day.

MISSOURI WILL HAVE NEW COACH

Indications are There Will be Complete Change in Coaching Staff Next Fall — Wimberly Being Considered.

COLUMBIA, MO.—(By the A. P.)—When the Missouri Tigers enter the gridiron season next fall, they will in all probability be under the direction of a new mentor, according to Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director at the Missouri university. Clevenger has indicated that a complete change in the coaching staff is contemplated. The change, he states, has been under consideration since the close of the football season last fall.

At least two prominent candidates for the head coaching position on the football staff have come to Columbia to confer with Director Clevenger and President J. C. Jones of the University. Recently, J. B. McCormick, Philadelphia, who has been assistant football coach at Princeton University, and A. Byron Wimberly, at present football coach at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington are the two candidates who have been in conference here with the University officials.

Others who are considered as candidates for the position include Gene Van Gent, University of Wisconsin star, once assistant at Missouri and later with the University of Texas and with Leland Stanford; Jack Sutherland, of Lafayette; Bert Ingwersen, former Illinois half back, and N. G. Wann of James Millikin. Fuller of Tulane, Higgins of Penn State and Robertson of Syracuse, are others who have been mentioned for the place.

Wimberly is reported to be the choice of the present candidates. He was formerly of Washington and Jefferson where he had an annual record as a football star of All-American fame. He has been recommended for the Missouri position by a number of prominent sport followers, including Fred Young, sport writer, Bloomington; Glen Warner, Pittsburgh; Bob Polwell, head coach of the navy and formerly of Washington and Jefferson.

FIND BODY OF MUMIFIED FAT MAN.

PHILADELPHIA.—(By the A. P.)—The mummified body of a fat man, an early resident of Philadelphia, is being preserved at the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology as a rare example of adipocere, a substance which is a soft waxy mass resembling soap. According to officials the man was Wilhelm Von Ellenberger who lived in the city when it was the capital of the United States and George Washington was president. In 1792 Von Ellenberger fell victim to the yellow fever plague and was buried in Potter's field, then on the outskirts of the city. Many years of burial in the moist soil of the field gradually converted the body into an adipocere mummy and when the field was turned into a public square the body was exhumed by workmen and identified.

Dr. Henry H. Donaldson of the Wistar institute staff, said recently that the mummified condition, while not common, sometimes occurs when any bodies are buried together and that the specimen while "not unique is unusually good."

The mummies of three Egyptians which occupy a place at the institute with Von Ellenberger are not as well preserved as the latter. This was accounted for in that many were dried while being mummified and the tissues shrunk.

WANT FEDERAL AID IN DREDGING RIVER

Moline.—By The A. P.—Federal aid for the dredging of the Moline harbor on the Mississippi river is to be asked of congress by Mayor Skinner and leading business men of Moline. A sand bar which blocks the approach to Moline, hinders river traffic and is menacing the city's water system. In time, it is said, the sand bar will threaten the government power dam, here.

WHITE HALL TO SEND TEAM FOR TOURNAMENT

Will be Represented by Strong Team at District Tournament Here This Week—Many Fans Will Back Boys.

White Hall, Feb. 28.— High school basketball has been a big success in White Hall this season and as a result the local school will be represented in the Jacksonville district tournament this week end with a splendid team. White Hall will meet Ashland first in the second game of the tourney on Thursday night.

At the start of the basketball season the local school had no gymnasium. In December 1921, a committee of interested citizens conceived a plan of erecting a gymnasium on the school grounds to be paid for with funds made up of contributions. This plan was carried out. Work was started on the building Christmas vacation week and the gymnasium was turned over to the board of education about the middle of January. Dean Corsa and Rev. Lee A. Hanchett were at the head of the community building committee. Rev. Hanchett had charge of collecting the necessary subscriptions, and Mr. Corsa was construction engineer. Practically all the labor was donated. Mr. Corsa's statement to W. H. Shirley, secretary of the board of education, shows that the expenditures were $1,850. It is a frame structure, which provides for succeeding a year or two hence. It is the largest structure of this kind in this part of the state, being 93x76, 17-foot clearance and 47-foot span.

As the gymnasium was not completed until the middle of January the team got off to a late start. White Hall has only played ten games, but finished the season last Friday night with a record of nine consecutive victories. The locals were only beaten once and that game was played with Griggsville at Griggsville at which time the locals had had no practice whatever. It was the first game for White Hall and the new gymnasium was not yet completed. However the locals played a good game and lost only after a hard fight, 18 to 25. Charles Thompson, manual training teacher in the high school, is coaching the team this year. Coach Thompson put the boys through hard workouts immediately after the gym was completed but it has taken a long time to smooth out the team. It is now believed that W. H. S. warriors can hold their own with any team entered in the tournament. In fact, White Hall has defeated some of the best teams that will play in the tournament. As the season progressed the team has gained in speed and floor work and the basket shooting of late has been out of the ordinary. In almost every game White Hall has displayed wonderful offensive and defensive strength. If the team gets off to a good start in the tournament it is going to take a really good team to beat them, as the boys have the same old fight that took White Hall into the district championship game with Springfield last year.

The following is the list of players from White Hall that will go to the tournament:

Forwards—Ray Goode, Ralph Boyd, Wayne Painter, Willie Smith.

Centers—Harold England and Estis McHarg.

Guards—Donald Hansberger, Willie Smith, Francis Search and Merle Mackey.

The following is the probable line up for White Hall in the game with Ashland on Thursday night: Forwards—Goode and Boyd. Center—England (Captain.) Guards—Hansberger and Smith.

The scores of the games played by White Hall this season are as follows: White Hall 18; Griggsville 25. White Hall 30; Bath 21. White Hall 16; Astoria 12. White Hall 22; Mercedosa 23. White Hall 21; Jerseyville 19. White Hall 9; Chesterfield 3. White Hall 12; Franklin 6. White Hall 30; Chapin 9. White Hall 26; Brighton 9. White Hall 57; Griggsville 16.

Since the team finished with a good season's record, large crowds of local basketball fans are planning to go to Jacksonville to back the boys in the tourney games. The teams will have headquarters at the Dunlay Hotel in Jacksonville during the tournament. High school will be dismissed Thursday morning for the rest of the week in order that the pupils and teachers might attend the tournament.

DENVER GETS

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 28.—The franchise formerly held by the Joplin, Mo., club of the Western Baseball League was sold to a syndicate of four men at a meeting of the Western League officials and prospective buyers here today it was announced this evening.

IOWA CITY, IA., Feb. 28.—The recent claim attributed to a German chemist that he had perfected a process for making gold from other metals, has brought a statement from Dr. Charles R. Keyes, Des Moines geologist, that Dr. Gustavus Hinrichs of the faculty of the University of Iowa demonstrated in 1883 that lead could be changed into gold by removing two atoms of the lead molecule.

Dr. Keyes states that the problem was worked out mathematically by Dr. Hinrichs and that at a later time the success of the project was actually demonstrated. It was found however, Dr. Keyes states that the process was so costly that the artificial gold was much more expensive than natural gold.

TAYLOR MYSTERY NEAR SOLUTION?

"He double-crossed us," wouldn't pay for the booze we brought him. We'll get him. We're going to kill him."

The name of the director was not spoken, however, it was stated.

Accused One of Murder.

Mrs. Rupp said she dismissed the threat from her mind until the day after the murder. Then, she said, while she and the two men were at dinner, she suddenly cried out to one of them:

"You are the man who killed Taylor."

"He turned perfectly white and sagged in his chair," Mrs. Rupp was quoted.

"Then he said: 'Good God don't say that again, don't ever mention that again.'"

"I never did," Mrs. Rupp said to have continued, "but during the next two weeks, one man would frequently come running into the house and hide in his room. Once he said to me 'the jugs are after me, help me hide.'"

Mrs. Rupp was said to have given the police the name of an alleged bootlegger from whom the six men were reported to have obtained the liquor they were charged with having sold. The officers were said to be searching for this man.

The arrests today revived the theory, brought forward several times and as often discarded, that Taylor was slain because of his alleged activities against a narcotics ring.

MARY PICKFORD IN NEW ROLE

New York, Feb. 28.—Mary Pickford "herself, not a movie" attracted a large crowd to the federal court building today when she sat in the witness chair and denied that she engaged Mrs. Cora C. Wilkenning to get her a big boost in salary back in 1916, but her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, was bored by the proceedings. He walked out into a corridor, sat on a radiator, lit a cigarette and spent the afternoon gazing at nearby skyscrapers.

Miss Mary, as her lawyer called her, looked Mrs. Wilkenning straight in the eye and denied having told her in 1916 that she was distressed over her business affairs. She also denied that she engaged her at a 10 per cent commission to get offers from other producers so Adolf Zukor would feel like increasing the $2,000 a week salary she then received.

ZIONISTS WOULD CONSTRUCT CANAL

Resurrect Old Plan for Building 250 Mile Canal as Supplement to Suez Canal.

JERUSALEM.—(By the A. P.)—The Zionist organization has resurrected the old plan of constructing a 250-mile canal through Palestine as a supplement to the Suez Canal. This project was first brought out 25 years ago by the late Duke of Sutherland but was buried unceremoniously by Sultan Abdul Hamid because of his opposition to progress.

Traffic through the Suez Canal has become so congested these days that it is claimed an alternate canal route is required. Zionist leaders have become convinced that the ever expanding trade relations between Continental Europe and the Far East have reached such dimensions that a canal in Palestine would fill an urgent need and reap untold commercial benefits for Palestine.

As planned by P. A. Maier, of Holland, its ardent supporter, the canal would be divided into two sections, one of which would extend from Haifa on the Mediterranean to Akabah, on the Gulf of Tiberias, or Sea of Galilee.

Then there would be an intervening part to be formed by a proposed Jordan lake to extend from the Lake of Tiberias toward the Dead Sea. This would be filled with Mediterranean sea water. Having crossed the Dead Sea the canal would begin again at Arabah at the foot of that sea and extend to Akabah at the head of the Gulf of Akabah, giving access to the Red Sea.

While the building of such a canal would necessitate the submergence of a considerable tract of fertile land as well as a few towns and villages (along the Jordan) its champions claim that the advantages would far outweigh the loss.

It is claimed that the proposed Jordan Lake would increase the humidity of all Palestine which now suffers from excessive heat and dryness, thus improving the climate as well as the vegetation. Also, it is asserted, the Jordan valley and the desert lying to the east with the prairies, South of Houran, owing to the increased area of water, would become great centers for colonization and development.

Together with these climatic benefits must be reckoned the commercial possibilities in the scheme. Haifa might become a second Port Said, a touching place to ships of all nations. Raw materials from Europe and America so much needed for the building up of industrial enterprises in Palestine and which now are being held back due to scarcity of calling ships, would begin to flow more freely.

Thus it is claimed, there would be opened up to the residents of Palestine great industrial opportunities.

EVANS TO QUESTION DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

Will Ask Them About Letter Alleged to Have Been Written by Col. John V. Clinin.

CHICAGO, (By the A. P.)—Federal Judge Evans is expected to announce in a few days what action he will take in connection with the summoning before him of Charles Clyne, United States district attorney and two assistant district attorneys, who are questioned concerning a letter alleged to have been written by Col. John V. Clinin, one of the assistants, that no investigation of the Co-operative Society of America was being conducted.

When asked by Judge Evans if he had authorized a letter in which the judge said Col. Clinin made the statement, Mr. Clyne said he had not, and Harry F. Hamlin, the other assistant summoned, also denied knowledge of the letter.

Replying to the judge's questions, Col. Clinin said the letter was a direct reply to a direct question and that he had no intention of embarrassing the court. Judge Evans then suspended the matter for ten days.

"This court does not believe that there has been corruption," Judge Evans told Col. Clinin, "although letters to that effect have been sent me. However, there has been a breach of professional duty that is practically in defiance to my information, that no investigation of the Co-operative Society of America was being conducted and that you would notify certain persons if one was started. You made an unauthorized and inaccurate statement, made to appear as if it came from the district attorney himself, when you said there was no subject matter for an investigation, when both Judge Kenesaw M. Landis and myself had ordered one."

HEATED DEBATE IN DAIL EIREANN.

A much heated party strife marked the opening session of the Dail Eireann today. Deputies on both sides accused each other of violating the spirit of the Ard Fheis compromise. Mr. Devalera, by stipulating the terms on which he would consent to remain in the Dail has strengthened belief in the possibility of the secession of himself and his followers.

Numerous divisions were forced and little business was transacted. The divisions showed majorities as high as ten for the supporters of the treaty.

The mainline of Cleavage concerned the real function of the Dail Mr. Devalera claiming that the Dail was the supreme authority while the Griffith party refused to be responsible to the Dail for their acts in the provisional government.

Mr. Devalera more than once indicated that he and his friends would discontinue participation in the proceedings unless Dail supremacy was recognized.

Mr. Collins submitted details of the American accounts to the end of December last.

MAY MERGE HEDDING WITH ILLINOIS COLLEGE
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 28.—A committee from the board of trustees of the Illinois Wesleyan University will go to Abingdon tomorrow bearing a proposal to the trustees of Heddling College that the two schools be merged in the Wesleyan here. Details of such a merger will be worked out later in case it is decided upon. Both colleges are under the patronage of the Illinois and the Central Illinois conferences of the Methodist church. If they are merged it is proposed that at least one building on the Wesleyan campus bear the name of Heddling. The trustees of Heddling have lately been offered a fund of $800,000 by citizens of Rock Island if the school is located there. The proposed Wesleyan merger would come up in connection with any proposition to move from Abingdon.

FIND TWO BRIGHT SPOTS IN RUSSIA

Government Takes Good Care of Children—Also Pays Much Attention to Scientific Research.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Two bright spots have been found in the soviet regime in Russia by a commission sent to that country by the health committee of league of nations.

These spots are the provisions made for taking care of children and the attention paid to scientific research.

The commission found that, despite all difficulties, the Russian children apparently were being taken care of in a comprehensive way and that the present regime has done its utmost to obtain proper conditions for the development of the child. It adds, however, that "in view of the difficult state of things which at present exists in Russia, the custom has grown up of voluntarily abandoning the child to the care of the state."

Despite all obstacles, it was found that scientific studies in behalf of public health were pursued with the utmost zeal. "In Moscow alone," the report states, "there were 12 municipal bacteriological laboratories, while in the Moscow district there were 30."

The league commission found the central public health administration in the hands of fully competent medical officers.

It found also, that the difficulty of that transport in Russia had tended to limit of its cholera and typhus epidemic. If the railway traffic had been normal, the commission said, the cholera would have spread westward.

The commission declared that there was no doubt that the famine and spread of epidemics were related one to the other. "Cholera," it states, "seems to have been almost entirely limited to the famine district, while typhus is mainly restricted to the same district."

The commission suggested that the Russian government conclude a sanitary convention and an anti-epidemic agreement with adjoining countries. The Peoples' Health Commissary expressed his readiness to do so and was particularly anxious to make such an agreement first of all with Poland.

MORE LIGHT THROWN ON INCOME RETURNS

Statement From Revenue Department Tells of Certain Exemptions From Commissions and Fees.

Compensation for personal services in the form of salaries, wages, commissions, fees, tips, bonuses and pensions form the principal item in the returns of millions of taxpayers. As a general rule all such income is subject to tax. However, there are exceptions with which the taxpayer in the interests of self as well as the Government, should familiarize himself.

Salaries paid to its officers and employees by a state or political subdivision thereof (city, town, county or hamlet) are exempt from taxation. The reason for this is that the Federal Government does not tax such activities of a state. Fees received by a notary public commissioned by a state are not taxable, neither are as paid jurors by a state or political subdivision thereof. Witnesses in law suits, however, even though subpoenaed by state's attorneys are not considered employees of the state, and fees received by them are subject to taxation.

The commissions of a receiver appointed by state, county or municipal court are not taxable. The commissions of an administrator or executor are taxable because they are not paid by a state or political subdivision, but out of the estate of the deceased.

Salaries of federal officers and employees, including those of the territories and the District of Columbia are subject to tax. Salaries and fees paid by the United States to its ambassadors, ministers or consuls accredited to foreign countries or by a foreign Government to United States citizens are taxable, and the amount spent by them for entertaining is not deductible. Fees paid a juror by the Federal Government are taxable income, likewise the fees received by a referee, trustee or receiver under the National Bankruptcy Act. The fees received by a notary public commissioned by the District of Columbia are taxable.

Annuities paid by the government to retired employees are subject to a tax to the extent that the aggregate amount of the payments exceeds the amounts withheld from the compensation of the employees. Amounts deducted and withheld from the basic salary, pay or compensation paid to employees in the civil service of the United States, in accordance with the provisions of the act providing for pensions to Government employees should be reported for income tax purposes. The total compensation of the employee should be reported in gross income. No corresponding deductions can be taken for the amounts withheld, inasmuch as such amounts are payments towards the purchase of annuities provided for in the act.

Inquiries received indicate the impression in the minds of many persons that all school teachers are exempt from payment of the income tax. Teachers are not exempt because engaged in educational work. As a rule the salaries paid public school teachers are exempt, but only for the reason that they are employees of a state or political subdivision thereof.

The special exemption of $3,500 is allowed persons in active service in military and naval forces under the revenue act of 1918 is repealed by the revenue act of 1921. Soldiers and sailors are allowed only the exemptions granted other individuals $1,000 if single, or married and not living with wife or husband; $2,500 if married and living with wife or husband if the net income for 1921 was $5,000 or less and $2,000 if married and living with wife or husband if the net income was more than $5,000.

DEATHS

Crawford.
A message received in Jacksonville Tuesday night brought news of the death of R. S. Crawford at Lincoln. Mr. Crawford was a linotype operator and for a period of about two years, was in the employ of the Journal. About two months ago he went to Lincoln and was working in the composing room of one of the newspapers there when he contracted an ailment which developed into double pneumonia. He died in a Lincoln hospital at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased was about 50 years of age and the greater part of his life was spent in Indiana. Two sisters survive, one resident in Indianapolis and the other in Los Angeles.

"Scotty" was the name by which Mr. Crawford was called by his friends, and those who knew him here will sincerely regret to learn of his death.

Unless his relatives direct otherwise, the remains will be brought to this city for interment. Mr. Crawford was a member of the typographical union and arrangements for the funeral will be made by that organization.

Miss Beulah Tull favored the members with a fine reading, characteristic of this young lady's talent. Miss Josephine Conboy sang a vocal solo, and Miss Anna Frances Bradley gave a violin solo which was a delightful treat. The Short family gave a program of music after which an orchestra of students from the School for the Blind played dance music for the young folks while the older persons indulged in playing rick.

The affair was voted one of the most pleasant ones the Caritas have ever given.

MORE WATER MAINS ACUTE CITY NEED

Forum Committee Report Shows Improvement Act Offers Only Means of Securing Extensions.

The report of the water extension committee was made at a meeting of the forum of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. The important subject of water main extension was thoroughly discussed, based upon the report of the committee. Dr. Carl E. Black, who is chairman of the forum, presided.

Preceding the committee report and its discussion, A. W. Hutchins representative of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, made a very interesting talk on the duty of the citizen to his community. The report from the water extension committee was made by the chairman, Dr. J. R. Harker.

It was the original suggestion of the committee that as an inducement for the laying of water mains that consumers be credited upon the expense of laying mains with the amount of their water bills for a period of five years.

John J. Reeve in discussing this matter, questioned the authority of the city to take this action. Mayor Crabtree stated that for years it had not been the practice of other cities to lay mains except under the local improvement act. He said further that the city council is ready to proceed under this act in the laying of mains, but does not wish to do so until public sentiment favors the plan.

There was general discussion of the subject and others mentioned in the report, among those taking part being John M. Vasconcellos, Harry M. Capps, Dr. David W. Reid, James K. C. Piereson, Owen Magill, John S. Hackert, John W. Merrigan, E. E. Wells, W. E. Sullivan and Marcus Hulett. It developed in the discussion that it was much cheaper for a person who is building a house to pay for a water main than for the construction of a well. Further, the time must come in the course of a few years when as a matter of public health all wells will be abandoned. The committee report also embodies the recommendation that public drinking fountains be located in a number of places.

After the discussion came a social hour, when refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by a committee of which Fred Darr was the chairman.

Report of Committee.
The full text of the committee report is appended:

The Report of the Committee:
Following the forum meeting which was held on June 21 at 7:45 P. M. which recommended that the committee in charge of this project investigate the matter further, the Water Main Extension Committee met at the request of Chairman Dr. Harker on June 28, 1921 and made a tour of the streets which have sewers but still no water connections.

In each case account was made of the number of houses on each side of each street, with the end in view of determining as far as possible who would have to pay the cost of water main extension in each case. The following streets together with the number of houses found on each were visited:

South Mauvalsterre from East College street to Franklin; 19 houses, 4 end lots.

Dunlap street from North Main to Michigan avenue; 16 houses, 4 end lots.

Clay avenue from East Superior to Michigan street; 16 houses and 4 end lots.

Edgmont street from Main street to South West street; 7 houses.

Edge Hill Road; 7 houses and 2 end lots.

A number of streets have sewers and want water mains, the following letter from Public Engineer E. M. Henderson will illustrate this point:

Mr. T. A. Chapin,
Peoria, Ill.

Referring to a letter to you from Dr. Harker which was handed to me this morning, beg to state that the following streets which have requested water mains have sewers: Dunlap street, from North

L. N. WYLDER NAMED FOR IMPORTANT POST

Former Jacksonville Man Is Now Chief Counsel for Missouri Highway Commission.

Jacksonville friends of L. Newton Wylder of Kansas City will be interested in knowing that he has recently been appointed chief counsel of the Missouri State Highway commission. Mr. Wylder, who is the president of the Kansas City Bar association, is a member of the well known law firm of Morrison, Nugent, Wylder and Berger, with offices in the Scarritt Building in Kansas City.

The appointment came to Mr. Wylder without any solicitation on his part and he was urged to accept it. He will have charge of the legal affairs of the commission that will handle the $60,000,000 highway fund which the voters of Missouri authorized.

The commission has just instructed the engineering department of the state to begin the preparation of plans for the construction of 1,500 miles of permanent roads between the larger cities of the state and plans for the clearing of the remainder of the state roads.

Mr. Wylder will receive a salary of $3,600 a year and will maintain his office in Kansas City and will not of necessity devote all of his time to the commission work. A large part of the compensation he will receive will be the satisfaction he has in assisting in such an important work in his state.

REASON FOR SCARCITY OF RURAL DOCTORS.
CHICAGO.—(By the A. P.)—The scarcity of physicians in the rural districts of some states is not due to any shortage in the supply of available doctors but the economic conditions, according to a survey made by the Journal of the American Medical Association. Complaint was recently made in Pennsylvania that there was a serious shortage in the number of doctors in the state. The Journal found the shortage offset by an oversupply in the cities. Pennsylvania has one doctor for every 768 people as compared to one physician for every 726 persons in the country as a whole.

Doctors, says the Journal's report, will not locate in rural districts where they can not earn a reasonable income, or where living conditions are poor.

"It is quite clear," the Journal says, "that the only way by which physicians can be induced to locate in rural districts is to make those districts more attractive places in which to live from the professional, social and economic points of view."

Organizations Suggest Lenten Sacrifices for Near East Relief Fund.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Ten Lenten sacrifices for women to enable them to feel starving war-orphan in the Bible lands are listed in a letter sent to leaders of the Illinois Women's Federation of Women's clubs, Women's Missionary groups, Ladies' Aid societies, social clubs, and women's fraternal organizations by the women's department of the Near East Relief. The letter, signed by Mrs. Martin Kent Northam of Evanston, chairman of the women's committee, expresses the hope that 2000 of the war-orphan in the Bible lands will be kept alive for a year as a result of the self-denials practiced by the women during the forty days of Lent.

The sacrifices suggested are:

1. Refrain from buying a new bonnet for Easter; its price feeds a child three months.

2. Deny yourself the pleasure of afternoon teas during Lent; they need bread.

3. Carry your own market basket the saving will help Near East Relief carry on.

4. Abstain from purchasing candies; the eating may be limited to candy presented to you by friend, neighbor or brother.

5. Resist the temptation to ride in taxis and even street cars on clear days; the walking will help your health and complexion.

6. Avoid extra desserts; the saving will help increase the contributions.

7. Darn the old stockings; the cost of a pair will feed a child for a month.

8. Desist from using perfumes; the aroma of the consciousness of doing good will sweeten your life.

9. Wear your old shoes half-soled; the price of a new pair saves a soul over there.

10. Save on amusements and contribute amount saved to Near East Relief; the contributions will fill you with joy.

"Lent is a time of self-denial and self-examination and for that reason it has been deemed advisable to suggest ten things that women may do to save money during Lent for the support of the homeless, helpless war-orphan in the Bible lands" reads the letter. "As you know there are 100,000 of the children being cared for by the Near East Relief authorized by and responsible to the United States congress for the work of relief and rehabilitation in Asia Minor."

"These suggestions will help to remind the women of how we may sacrifice from our bounty to provide for the need of the victims of war massacre over there. One or more of the self-denials here suggested will net more than enough to make up the quota if a fair proportion of the women of Illinois respond."

Illinois headquarters of the Near East Relief are at 19 S. La-Salle St. Chicago.

Those Beautiful Cameos

There is a rare charm about the genuine cameo that in its enduring quality ranks with the pearl—a sentiment that has held from the earliest history of gems and, like the pearl, the cameo always is in style, appropriate for almost every occasion where jewels may be worn. The superb cutting and delicate shadings obtained in the cameo make them much to be desired—whether in the form of a ring, brooch or pin, for men or women; and their reasonable price make them especially suitable as gifts.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED BY BOYS

Two Boys in Portland, Ore., Publish Mount Scott Eagle—One is Son of Former Resident and Nephew of Mrs. Walter Crawford.

Two lads who live in Portland, Ore., are making quite a success with a weekly newspaper which they edit and print. The boys are, Henry Ferris, aged 15, and Lawrence Warren, age 13. Their publication, the Mt. Scott Eagle, has local interest from the fact that Henry is a son of William Ferris, a former resident and a nephew of Mrs. Walter Crawford of Sandusky street.

The boys began their publication in October. The first copy was hand printed both as to subject matter and advertisements. Then in a few weeks such progress was made that in November the young editors and managers hired a student at the polytechnic high school to do their printing.

The first issue of the Eagle was in pencil with just ten copies and intended only for their intimate friends. Now the boys proudly boast a circulation in excess of 100. The Portland Oregonian in a recent issue gave one picture of the boys and another of their print shop. The newspaper story included the following paragraphs:

"The Eagle is frankly proud of its subscription list and carries a summary of the growth from the first issue to the present month by mouth. It carries the neighborhood news in brief, small advertisements of local business houses, theatrical notices and a "funny," sometimes a cartoon and at other times the sayings of "Zibid" for instance: "Zibid says: 'A bald-headed capitalist offered a $1,000 reward for a sight that would make his hair stand on end.'"

"The last issue of the Eagle contains advertisements of a barber shop, a restaurant, a print shop, a motion picture theatre, a change, a furniture exchange, a grocery store and a fruit stand. Its news departments cover items about a family in quarantine, an operation for a goitre, a boxing and wrestling event, a birthday party, a cooking demonstration, the next quarter's Sunday school lessons, and neighborhood personals.

"Daily, after school hours, Editors Warren and Ferris scout around the district for news, and they receive a cordial welcome from the Mount Scott folk. The Eagle has attained the distinction of being looked upon with pride, and its hustling young publishers are given many well wishes."

The Jewish Relief Drive ends March 1st. Mail your contributions at once to Ben Cohen, chairman. Shall they plead in vain? Help save a few souls.

Gentlemen: RE Claim No. 36237—C. H. Joesting.

Replying to yours of Feb. 14th, you have apparently overlooked the fact that this is an Increasing Income policy and the weekly indemnity is $10.00 instead of $5.00. You can, therefore, issue another draft for an additional $15.00 as, of course, it is our intention to pay exactly what a policy calls for.

It has been said that promises are easy to make. That is only too true in this old world of ours, but we guarantee to keep every promise made and have been in business long enough to be able to name a legion of customers who will gladly back up our assertions—that we provide a real and actual service for Ford and Fordson owners, and without unnecessary delay.

We give you the work of Eight Mules for the price of Two

HOW?

By selling you a "Fordson," the world's greatest power-farming invention —You save the cost of six mules, their feed, care, cost of handling; do your work quick, easier and, consequently, effect a big saving there also.

Tractor $425, Delivered

The Fordson Tractor, and What We Will Do

First, here is the one farm tractor that has practical service behind it. A tractor without prompt, efficient service behind it cannot deliver its full value to its owner. There is but one model of the Fordson, and that a perfect one. Henry Ford specialized. He made one tractor and made that one well. This means lower manufacturing cost and a lower selling price for tractor parts.

Second, give us these two tests.

Come to our station on West State street, in Jacksonville, look over the Fordson and name any five parts of it you choose; we will take you to the store room and show you those parts in stock. That means prompt service when you need it.

Then step to the phone and call up any of our customers and ask how long it takes us to get on the job when asked for service.
